 - providing advice or information on retail financial products;
 - arranging retail financial products;
 - ongoing administration support e.g. requested review meetings, telephone support, complaints adjudication).

Harvest, as an IIA investment intermediary:

- is not a tied agent;
- provides investment advice on a non-independent basis as:
 - the platform provider or the product producers of the investment instruments, which are on our list of recommended funds, remunerate us, where clients do not wish to pay us fees, for:
 - providing advice or information on retail financial products;
 - arranging retail financial products;
 - ongoing administration support e.g. requested review meetings, telephone support, complaints adjudication);
 - our advisors do not assess and compare a sufficient range of investment instruments as their advice is based on a limited analysis of different types of investment instruments which are on our list of recommended funds,

- will provide, in a timely manner, clients with:
 - warnings for each order received e.g.:

 - information on costs and charges of product producers with respect to the investment instruments we provided services;
 - notifications with respect to applicable data breaches; and
 - notifications if we suspect someone else is trying to access information and / or commit fraud.

Fact finding and the assessment of suitability.

Under the IDR and the CPC, we are obliged to ensure our advisors have information necessary to assess the suitability of a product or service. The reason for assessing suitability is to enable our advisors act in your best interests.

Please note that, without accurate and sufficient information about your knowledge, experience, financial situation and investment objectives, capacity for loss and / or environmental, social and governance (ESG) preferences, our advisors may recommend unsuitable products / investment instruments.

As your circumstances change, your needs will change so you are encouraged to provide up to date, accurate and sufficient information to our advisors.

It is important that you keep us informed of any material changes to the (fact finding) information you provide us with. Failure to inform us of material changes may result in you having inappropriate investments in your portfolio.

Where information is required and not provided to assess suitability, we will be unable to provide you with advice.

Transactions.

We can facilitate your request regarding a specific life office product after providing you with an appropriate warning.

We can transmit your order regarding an investment instrument after providing you with an appropriate warning.

Fees and charges.

Cost transparency is at the core of everything that we do, with all fees, commissions, non-monetary benefits and / or charges affecting your personal and / or retirement assets being fully disclosed in advance i.e. prior to us recommending and / or arranging a product / service.

Minor non-monetary benefits will be disclosed in a generic way e.g. a training day which is designed to enhance the service, access to research which is designed to enhance the service, etc.

Our firm have a policy on accepting gifts and hospitality, which is linked to our conflicts of interest policy. For example, a product producer providing an in-house training event with lunch on the features of an investment instrument would be considered an acceptable minor non-monetary benefit, however, it would not be acceptable if the location was a golf club in Spain as this could influence the behaviour of our advisors in a way that could be detrimental to our clients' interests.

We reserve the right to share fees or commissions with, or receive remuneration from, third parties.

The current version of our schedule of fees and charges is on our website. The schedule contains a note of all the fees and charges in relation to all products and services. A summary of the details of all arrangements for any fee, commission, other reward or remuneration provided by life offices is also on our website.

In the event of your failure to pay fees, we reserve the right to pursue any legal course of action as may be required.

Conflicts of interest policy.

We implement and maintain an effective conflicts of interest policy.

We are committed to ensuring that our business is conducted in an honest and professional manner. All our employees are obliged to refrain from doing anything that could reasonably be regarded as creating a conflict of interest in line with their professional responsibilities.

Our policy is to prevent conflicts of interest when providing services to our clients. From time to time we may have interests which conflict with our clients' interests. Our policy is to identify such instances and manage them accordingly.

In the event that we are unable to satisfy ourselves that our procedures and measures for managing conflicts or potential conflicts of interest will prevent the risk of damage to your interest, we will disclose to you the nature of the conflict or potential conflict. You may then consider whether or not to accept our services.

Investor Compensation Scheme.

The ICCL is an independent body set up under the Investor Compensation Act 1998. The key purpose of ICCL is to provide compensation to eligible investors of failed regulated firms.

We are a member of the Investor Compensation Scheme.

Any money in a client premium account is covered under the Investor Compensation Scheme. The compensation payable will be the amount of the client's loss, which is capped at 90% of the amount lost up to a maximum of €20,000.

Details of the Investor Compensation Scheme are on the website of the ICCL: www.investorcompensation.ie.

Compensation fund.

We are a member of the Brokers Ireland Compensation Fund.

The liabilities of a member firm, up to a maximum of €100,000 per client (or €250,000 in aggregate), may be discharged by the Brokers Ireland Compensation Fund if the member firm is unable to do so, where the Investor Compensation Scheme has failed to adequately compensate any client of the member firm.

Risk.

There are varying degrees of risk inherent in investing.

We do not accept liability for the performance of any investment entered into by a client. You must therefore, prior to investing, satisfy yourself that you are happy to proceed on the terms outlined. Where appropriate you should seek independent advice from your accountant, tax adviser and other professionals.

We shall not, save in the event of fraud, be responsible or liable for the economic performance of your portfolio or for any losses, claims, costs or expenses as a result of the performance of our obligations under this document. This will not exclude or restrict any obligation that we owe to you under the rules of any relevant regulatory body.
